DEATHS

C. LESTER CARSON

CONCORD—C. Lester Carson, 68, a farmer, died at 2:30 a. m. Wednesday at Lynchburg General Hospital after an illness of one week.

Born in Appomattox County, he was the son of Thomas B. and Sarah Bondurant Carson. He was a member of Hebron Baptist Church in Appomattox County.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Agnes Davidson Carson, he is survived by a foster daughter, Mrs. O. R. Wilson of Covington; two sisters, Mrs. J. O. Robertson of Spout Spring and Mrs. Minnie Burnette of Appomattox; one brother, Virgil L. Carson of Roanoke; and several nieces and nephews.

A funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. today at Hebron Baptist Church. Burial will be in the church's cemetery. Robinson Funeral Home in Appomattox is in charge of funeral arrangements.

MRS. RUFUS H. BATES

SPOUT SPRING — Mrs. Edmonia Jones Bates, 95, wife of the late Rufus Hill Bates, died at 5:40 a. m. Thursday in the Virginia Baptist Hospital.

Born in Appomattox County, she was the daughter of Lemach and Macca Hunter Jones. She had been in declining health for a year. She was a member of Old Concord Presbyterian Church in Appomattox County and was the church's oldest member.

She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. F. O. Jones, Mrs. C. R. Morton, Mrs. E. T. Sours, Mrs. C. W. Adams and Miss Lucile Bates, all of Spout Spring; three sons, W. Rufus Bates and Arthur D. Bates, both of Spout Spring, and E. L. Bates of Brookneal; one sister, Miss Ella Jones of Monroe; 16 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

A funeral service was held Saturday at 11 a. m. at the Robinson Funeral Home in Appomattox with burial in Spring Hill Cemetery in Lynchburg.

A vacation is good while it lasts but when you get back to work it is tough.

KNOW THE WEATHER

Does the weather affect our mood because of psychological factors or because of physical factors?

The changing weather affects the way we feel both the real, physical sense, and the psychological. In the first place changes in the pressure of the air affect us, as does the relative amount of moisture in the air, so that many people feel genuine physical "omens" and "signs" about the weather in advance of a wether change, and during certain periods.

The psychological effect is also great. Phychologists have found that some people associate cheerfulness with rain, others link it with bright, sunny skies. It depends, to a large extent, on childhood experiences and the business you are in, or what effect rain — for example — will have on your life.

So both these influences must be taken into consideration in appraising the effects of weather on humans, which is sometimes quite great. Generally speaking, of course, most people feel best, physically, when they are under a high pressure area of clear, dry air.

G. L. James, Farm Agent

Appomattox County and the Cooperative Extension Service were hosts to a foreign visitor from Northrn Nigeria,, Africa. Farm Agent G. L. James was assigned the responsibility of introducing Mr. Haruna Bichi, Assistant Agricultural Superintendent, Nigeria, to the farming methods, practices, and techniques used in Appomattox County, from June 26 to July 6. Mr. Bichi met and had conferences with local officials and businessmen. Local Soils Technicians J. Harrison and J. Goins were especially cooperative and interested in aiding the visitor in getting first hand experience and knowledge of local soils savings practices in terracing, contour plantings, the Water Shed, and farm pond construction. Nigeria's greatest agricultural problem is conserving to soil. Mr. Bichi was one of four agricultural superintendents from Africa now visiting the States. From Appomattox thses men go to Cornell University for a period of study, then on to othr states similar to theirs in climatic conditions; Nebraska, Arizona, Utah, and New Mexico.

Mr. Bichi stated, "I have experienced the sense of duty and the readiness to assist with all the people I was able to come in contact with. Further, it is a wonderful opportunity for me to have the privilege of experiencing life in America. I really have enjoyed every single minute of my stay in Appomattox." He was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Pamplin during his ten day stay in Appomattox.
